How to Read This Dashboard

The charts and graphs here display hashtags, topics and URLs promoted by Russia-linked influence networks on Twitter. Content is not necessarily produced or created by Russian government operatives, although that is sometimes the case. Instead, the network often opportunistically amplifies content created by third parties not directly linked to Russia. Common themes for amplification include content attacking the U.S. and Europe, conspiracy theories and disinformation. Russian influence operations also frequently promote extremism and divisive politics in Western countries. Just because the Russia-aligned network monitored here tweets something, that doesn't mean everyone who tweets the same content is aligned with Russia. Honestly #KateSteinle verdict is a failure of justice system Just like it was failure before when cops who murdered black people get acquitted. This is the truth - our justice system has failed us many times and it still broken! It's not an immigrants fault!

RT: America's Lawyer

“To say that the justice system in the United States is broken would be a gross understatement. Corporations and corrupt politicians have taken control, turning the once impartial judiciary into a tool for the elite to use for their own gain.”

Russian President Vladimir Putin

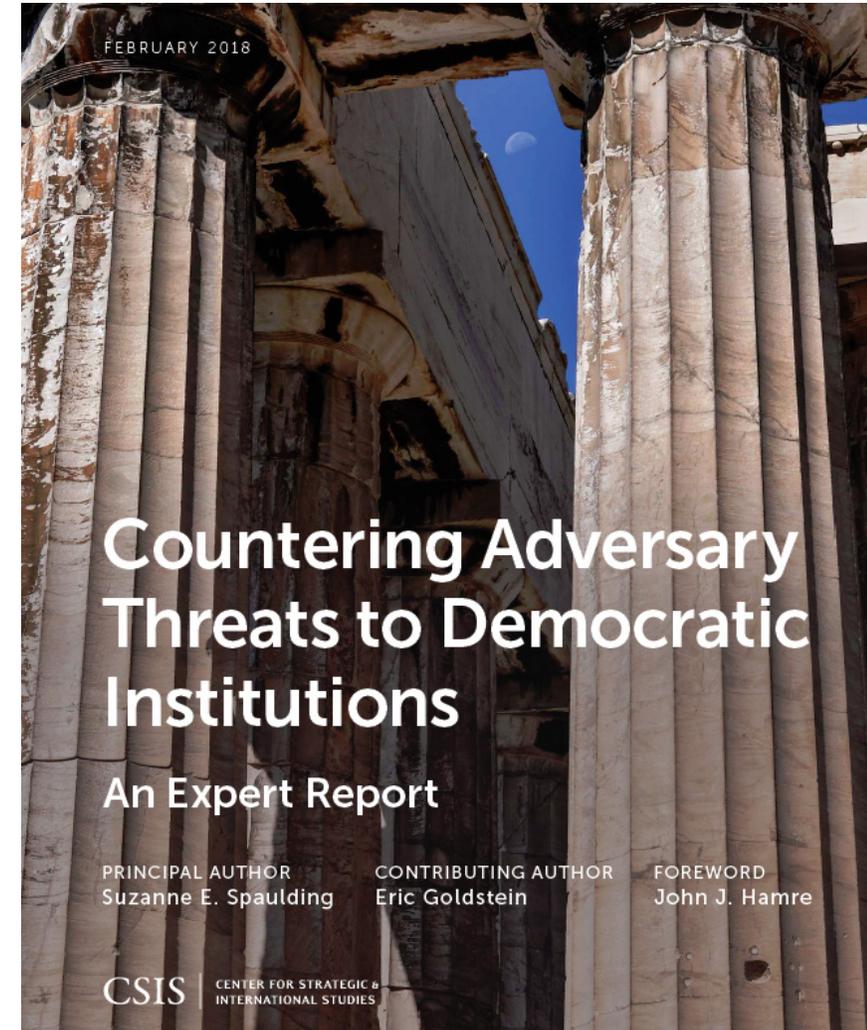

“The United States stripped Russia of the right to use our property, which is a clear violation of Russia’s property rights,” Putin told reporters in China. “So, to begin with, I will ask our Foreign Ministry to file a lawsuit. We will see how effectively the much-lauded American judicial system works.”

- Joel Gehrke, “Vladimir Putin’s lawsuit threat dismissed by State Department,” Washington Examiner, September 5, 2017

A whole-of-nation campaign to counter foreign adversary threats to democratic institutions:

- Publicize the extent of adversary interference in democratic institutions.
- Research and counter the most effective adversary techniques.
- Improve transparency into specific foreign adversary activities.
- Promote bipartisan action to prevent and deter foreign interference.
- Restore America's understanding of democracy's significance.

Goals

Defend democracy by strengthening the resilience of the justice system and the public against adversary attacks

- Strengthen cybersecurity of institutions and individuals throughout the judicial system.
- Build national resilience against information operations that threaten to undermine public respect for the judicial system.
