

Allegations Related to COVID-19 Vaccine Injuries are NOT Adjudicated in the United States Court of Federal Claims

While the National Vaccine Injury Compensation Program (VICP) permits the United States Court of Federal Claims to provide compensation to individuals found to be injured by certain vaccines, the COVID-19 vaccine is not currently covered by this Program. The COVID-19 vaccine is instead covered by the Countermeasures Injury Compensation Program (CICP), which is administered by the Health Resources & Services Administration. Therefore, any petition filed in the United States Court of Federal Claims alleging that an injury was caused by the COVID-19 vaccine will be dismissed.

A countermeasure is a vaccination, medication, device, or other item recommended to diagnose, prevent, or treat a declared pandemic, epidemic, or security threat. The CICP provides benefits to individuals who have experienced serious physical injuries as a direct result of the administration or use of covered countermeasures identified by the Secretary of the United States Department of Health and Human Services in declarations issued under the Public Readiness and Emergency Preparedness Act (PREP Act), 42 U.S.C. §§ 247d-6d, 247d-6e.
